Products from organic grains
are available.

DIFAL-ANIMALT has developed a range of natural feed for domestic animals, livestock but also sport and companion animals.

Our feed are available in liquid or powder form and their utilization in animal nutrition could enhance animal performances and well-being. Digestive function is mainly improved by malt products, which notably increase of feed efficiency and gut health. Malt products provide natural vegetal enzymes and rapidly assimilated energy, and have a beneficial effect on gut microbiota. They contain also great quantities of antioxidants combating cell aging and cell damage induced by chronic diseases, and protecting muscular cell during intensive work. Our products are mainly from French cereals and fulfill rigorously the european community standards.

Malt extracts

EXTRAMALT is a concentrate barley malt extract in liquid or crystallized form, rich in enzymes and antioxidants. It could be used in all domestic species and for all ages, but especially in animals presenting digestive disorders or a fussy appetite, and during nutritionally stress, like weaning or beginning of feedlot breeding. : dog and cat, horse, pig, rabbit and poultry, ruminant.

MALTPRO équin équin is a barley malt extract rich in energy and antioxidant, a real energizer and recovery drink for sport horses. The long term preservation allows an easier stock management but decrease enzyme contents.

MALTPRO rum is a barley and corn malt extract rich in rapidly assimilated energy, particularly adapted for ruminant dams often in negative energy balance around birthing. The long term preservation allows an easier stock management but decrease enzyme contents.
